Our Learning

This week, the children have had a busy week continuing to learn about the class story 'Anna Hibiscus' and then we were discussing whether is better to have a big or small family. In maths, the children have been persevering with adding two digit numbers which they have found challenging but they are now becoming more secure. In geography, the children enjoyed thinking about what the school building would like from an aerial view and we made our own maps for the different classrooms.

Next week, we are going to be applying our skills of adding two digit numbers. This will include adding two amounts of items in a shop that cost less than one pound. This could be something that you do with the children at home to help practise their adding skills. In English, the children are going to be writing postcards in the role of Anna Hibiscus. In science, we are going to be continuing to look at animals.
