Our Learning

This week, we have been learning about how the Maya farmed and how their favourite foods compare to those we eat today. We really enjoyed tasting chocolate!

In English, we completed some research and planned a non chronological report on endangered or extinct animals.

In Maths lessons, we continued to focus on shape by looking at how to calculate volume. We also explored the topic of statistics and how data can be represented and interpreted using different types of charts and graphs.

Next week, we will be having a 'Mock SATs week' to prepare for the real SATs in May. We will be completing tests in reading, grammar, spelling and Maths.

In the afternoons, we will begin a DT unit where we will be researching and designing a bread recipe. On Friday, it is World Book Day and we will be exploring the theme of quests.
